‘Feeling Good, Looking Nice,

Smelling Right’

Passenger Records

The Body Snatchers AKA highly respected underground production duo 30Hz and Baobinga drop their debut long player 'Feeling Good, Looking Nice, Smelling Right' as their bling-tastic, spaced-up, crunk-enducing alter ego and it's been long worth the wait.

Featuring a whole host of MCs including Sporty-O, Kamikaze, Sirplus, Yolanda and more , mixed up with various skits, a club-based album this aint. Think Urban style music with the production standards of two geniuses, two mad professors who've been locked in the studio formulating a super hype hybrid sound.

Clearly a duo never to rest on their laurels as well as the music The Body Snatchers decided that simply releasing music was not enough and have created a trilogy of music videos to accompany the three singles taken from this album. Approaching (and convincing!) The Arts Council to give them funding to produce a three animated shorts showcasing the intergalactic adventures of their cartoon alter egos cannot be bad in any books! (check the weblinks below!) This design will feature throughout their album / website and myspace!

With the video of their last single 'Freaky Ho' featuring highly on MTV Dance, their new video for single 'Call Me' has already racked up somewhere in the region of 170,000 (!) plays on youtube…. check the link now!
