IT WAS IATE AFTERNOON and the small low car came down from the black road across the hills and headlands with the dark blue ocean always on the right onto 'a deserted boulevard that bor~ dered a flat beach of two miles-of yellow sand at Hendaye. Well ahead on the ocean side was the bulk of a big hotel and a-casino and on the left there were newly planted trees and Basque villas whitewashed and brown timbered set in their own trees and plantings. The two young people in the car rode down the boulevard slowly lo~king out at the magnificent each and at the mountains of Spain that showed blue in this light as the car passed the casino and the big hotel and went on toward the end of the boulevard. Ahead was the mouth of the river that flowed into the ocean. The tide was out and across the bright sand they saw the ancient Spanish town and the green hills across the bay and, at the far point, the lighthouse. They stopped the car. "It's a lovely place," the girl said. "There's a cafe with tables under the trees," the young man said. "Old trees." "The trees are strange," the girl said. "It's all new planting. I wonder why they planted mimosas." "To compete with where we've come from." "I suppose so. It all looks awfully new. But it's a wonderful beach. I never saw such a big beach in France nor with such smooth and fine sand. Biarritz is a horror. Let's drive up by the cafe.
