- Humans are odd. They think order and chaos are somehow opposites... and try to control what won't be. But there is grace in their failings... I think you missed that.

- They're doomed.

- Yes. But a thing isn't beautiful because it lasts.

(C) "Avengers: Age of Ultron"

People. We are so different. But we are alike in one thing for sure. We are separating others into friends or foes. Into black or white, into games of Light and Shadow. And we are playing this game without being tired. And those, who consider themselves to be higher and better than others, help us with pleasure... playing "rule and divide" at the same time. Everything is in the game – sex, nationality, religious and political beliefs, skin or eye colour...

But there is something that unites us. Of course. We all are PEOPLE. So, it is not important what ideas you profess, what society you belong to... what image of God you address your prayers to or even you do not have it at all. If you live like a Human, according to your conscience and proceeding from your own moral virtues... if the scope of your thoughts and feelings relate to Eternity, if your ideas and beliefs unite people on the basis of mutual respect, love, creation, growth – these are beautiful ideas. If you live an unscrupulous and ignorant life, more over – like a selfish consumer – these are sinister and foolish ideas. And it is not important of what kind they are exactly if they ruin us and separate us once more. One part of us is desperately trying to survive and find the sense of its Existence, the other – to recall our roots and where we come from, the third is in endless competitions with each other and the creator of the Universe for perfection and dominating...

But we are united no matter we wish it or not. We are the People. We are the Humanity.
